MORE FREIGHTERS FOR PACIFIC TRADE

Moore and McCormack Will Add Five to Intercoastal Service.

roadway, is negotiating the purchase five large freighters to be put into service between Atlantic and Pacific ports by way of the Panama Canal, it coastal trade is already served by nearly 1,000,000 deadweight tons of American rate war.

An official of the company, confirming a report current in shipping circles, said that the negotiations for the ships had virtually been completed, but that pending the formal conclusion of the deal he did not wish to give the names of the ships. Moore & McCormack aldy have three ships in an Atlantic 3:30 AM. tercoastal service, and the additional tonnage will be entered in response to offers from shippers, said the official.

It is planned to have two of the new equisitions in service this month and acquisitions in service this month and three more in January, which will bring the tonnage in the Moore & Mc-Cormack Atlantic intercoastal service to 60,000. Ports of call on the Atlantic are New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore and on the Pacific, San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver.

The indications yesterday were of an intensification of the sharply competitive conditions in the intercoastal trade existing for some months. Not only are the Garland and Moore & McCormack dinterests adding additional tonnage, but the end of the canned goods movement

The indications yesterday were of an intensification of the sharply competitive conditions in the intercoastal trade existing for some months. Not only are the Garland and Moore & McCormack interests adding additional tonnage, but the end of the canned goods movement from the Pacific is near, and this is expected to lift the pressure for east-bound space. Lumber movement continues good, but is not expected to compensate for the loss of canned goods cargoes. Space on westbound ships, it is estimated, is more than double the cargo offering.
